

GESTPLAST is committed to adopt, develop and implement a process management system based on ISO 9001:2015, the specific requirements of our customers, as well as current legislation and regulations.

The objective of GESTPLAST is to be a benchmark in the field of technical injection of thermoplastics in terms of quality and therefore in the satisfaction of our customers.

The following principles are fundamental to achieving the foregoing objectives:

1.- Guarantee high quality in our services and products.

- Implement and review annual quality objectives, ensuring that they are measurable, achievable and consistent with this policy.
- Implement a methodology of risk and opportunity management within the organization.
- Implement and ensure a process of continuous improvement of our management system.
- Base our decisions on the analysis of data and accurate, reliable and affordable information, to prevent potential failures.
- Integrate our suppliers as much as possible into our methodology, to promote improvement and share needs and expectations
- Involve and train all staff, enhancing their involvement in the achievement of our objectives, improving their competence and versatility in the workplace

2.- Management commitment.

This Management undertakes to provide all the necessary support so that the content of this policy is implemented, communicated and understood by the entire organization in order to ensure that the objectives and principles set out above are achieved in their entirety.
